Cold Weather Slows Ohio River Flood

By United Press

A bitter March cold wave slowed flood waters in the sudden Ohio Valley today and sent the temperature skidding far below zero in the northern Midwest.

Hundreds of persons were homeless along the swollen Ohio river in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana. But the cold wave arrived in the nick of time to hold down flood crests and damage was not as severe as had been feared.

Flood waters were falling early today from Pittsburgh, Pa., to often-flooded Marietta, Ohio, at 56.7 feet, nearly 5 feet above flood stage.

Farther east, flood waters blocked the multi-million dollar West Virginia turnpike, isolated Williamson, W. Va., and all but cut off Logan, W. Va. Red Cross crews were sent into the stricken states to aid the homeless.

From Pittsburgh to Marietta, Ohio, the water was decreasing at the rate of one-tenth foot per hour, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported. Downstream from that point the water was rising by one-fifth foot per hour. The water at Cincinnati apparently had reached a crest of 56.7 feet, nearly five feet over flood stage.

It was predicted earlier that a crest would reach 60 feet here by Wednesday.

The flood waters flowed into some areas of Wheeling, Point Pleasant, Parkersburg and Huntington, W. Va., Sunday. High water and slides blocked numerous roads including the multi-million dollar West Virginia Turnpike. Part of Wheeling Downs race track were inundated. The Guyan river all but isolated Logan, W. Va., and at last reports was at 22 feet, two above flood stage. But the crest is moving downstream rapidly.

At Charleston, the Kanawha river was expected to crest at the 34-foot flood stage early today. At Williamson, W. Va., which was isolated by overflowing Tug and Big Sandy rivers, storekeepers evacuated their merchandise. The area was hit by $100,000 damage in last week's flood.

Wheeling Steel Corp. mills at Steubenville and Mingo, Ohio, and at Wheeling and Benwood, W. Va., faced the possibility of little or no operations because of the rising waters.

In Indiana, at least 40 families were forced to flee their homes at Evansville, Madison, New Albany and other towns Sunday. In some instances, the water backed up in basements and seeped into living quarters.

Some sections of Eastern Louisville, Ky., were flooded despite the closing of flood wall gates. The Kentucky river crested at Frankfort, Ky., seven feet over its 31-foot flood stage, but families in the threatened area had been evacuated earlier.

Reservoirs Receive Additional Water During Week End

The reservoirs north of town got approximately 30 million more gallons of water over the week-end as a result of Saturday's rainfall.

Harrison Kibler reported the precipitation here as .35 inch and at Galatia .41 inch.

All pumps—the 14,200, the 3,000 and 750 gallons per minute units—were turned on a few minutes before 4 p. m. Saturday and the biggest pump continued to operate until 10 p. m. Sunday. The 750 gallon pump was shut off at 2:30 p. m. and the 3,000 gallon at 4:15 p. m., both Sunday afternoon.

There was conjecture today on whether the rising Ohio river would send enough water—with a good enough test—to pump water later without benefit of rainfall. Latest prediction by Stanley Rumpy of the U. S. Weather Bureau, Evansville, is that the Ohio river will crest at 46.5 feet March 14 at Shawneetown.

Ask Congress For Protection Against Imports

Labor, Management Join in Plea for Coal, Metal Industries

By United Press

Labor and management representatives of the coal and metals industries joined today in a plea to members of Congress for protection against the effects of foreign imports.

They said that a flood of cheap foreign oil and imported metals are hurting their industries and creating growing unemployment.

Walter R. Thurmond, secretary of the Southern Coal Producers' Assn., told a Senate labor committee that "excessive" imports of oil have had a "devastating effect" on the coal industry. Mines have closed, production has dropped and unemployment risen, he said. He blamed "a selfish, greedy and irresponsible international oil cartel" made up of half a dozen of the larger oil companies.

Lester Thomas, international representative of the United Mine Workers, suggested "that the importing of residual oil be halted or diminished or heavily taxed so that this unfair, cheap fuel brought from a low wage paying country be stopped from destroying an industry which supported hundreds of thousands of American citizens and families."

Otto Herres, chairman of the National Lead and Zinc Committee, entered a similar plea for protection against imported metals. He said U. S. mines are "struggling to survive a flood of low-priced imports."

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee opened hearings on President Eisenhower's proposal to extend the reciprocal trade program for three years with additional tariff cutting powers. Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Me.) called for the junking of this in favor of straight two-year renewal of the act without tariff reducing authority.

Other congressional news: Supercarriers: Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas told the House Armed Services Committee that the atomic age has made big aircraft carriers "more indispensable than ever before." He testified in support of the Navy's request for a fifth 200-million-dollar supercarrier.

Taxes: Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) announced his support of the Democratic-sponsored $20 income tax cut. He was the first Republican senator to endorse it. But Sen. Walter F. George (Ga.), a Democrat who opposes the cut, said it appears to be doomed in the Senate. The House already has approved it.

Markets: James E. Day, president of the Midwest Stock Exchange, testified today that very few stocks are out of line price-wise.

James W. Holland, former resident, is killed in accident.

James Wesley Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holland of Harrisburg, met death late Saturday night when his car overturned in a canal in Port Arthur, Tex.

Adm. Stump Says U. S. Forces Can Protect Matsu, If Ordered to Do So

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist naval headquarters said today the 13,000-man garrison on Matsu Island is being reinforced "two to three times" its present strength in a determined Nationalist effort to hold it from Communist invasion.

The naval sources said the troops were being ferried to Matsu, some 110 miles west of Formosa, in Nationalist ships and under Nationalist air cover and that no American ships or aircraft were involved in the wholesale troop movement.

The troop movements were disclosed when a Navy spokesman told newsmen a trip to Matsu tentatively arranged for Tuesday was postponed because the troops are being transferred there "night and day."

Adm. Felix Stump, commander of U. S. naval forces in the Pacific, said earlier today after a tour of the Matsu stronghold within sight of the Red - held mainland that the United States armed forces could protect "anything" — including America.

The United States gave the Nationalists 22 landing craft in a ceremony at the southern port of Kaohsiung today, and U. S. Embassy Counselor William P. Cochran Jr. said they represented a "very increasing" amount of aid from America.

Illinois Civil Defense Sets Up Storm Warning Plan for Schools

Supervisor of Civil Defense in Saline County, today announced that the Illinois Civil Defense has set up a storm warning plan for schools in the state.

Mr. Altire explained that the system will work like this: The U. S. Weather Bureau will broadcast general storm alerts covering situations where a severe storm is probable, but its course and degree of intensity will be uncertain.

The Bureau will receive and analyze information from several hundred Illinois, Iowa and Missouri weather stations and Illinois Ground Observer Corps posts regarding the existence, type, location, intensity, speed and direction of movement of specific storms.

Information received by the Weather Bureau will be quickly evaluated and local forecasts promptly made available to the Illinois State Police radio network, selected commercial radio stations including WEBQ, and the press wire services.

All county sheriff's offices equipped with police radios will receive these warnings and will transmit their content to the County Civil Defense supervisor, who immediately will assume the responsibility of relaying the information to all schools in the county.

It will be the responsibility of the principal or some designated person in each school to take such action as is appropriate in the school for the safety of the entire faculty and student body.

Arrangements will be made with the telephone company to relay promptly the message to the pre-arranged telephone numbers of all schools. The schools can tune to WEBQ for further information concerning the storm. If the school has no telephone, the number of the nearest person to the school should be turned in to Mr. Altire.

To Perfect Shelter Drills: The storm alerts are issued substantially as follows: "The Weather Bureau advises that conditions are favorable for the development of one or more tornadoes (wind or hail) in southern Illinois late this afternoon."

Such a message should not be interpreted to mean that tornadoes will occur in all localities and it is not necessary to take shelter, until one is actually observed. It would be advisable however, to post lookouts to warn of the approach of such a storm.

Brilliant Flash Seen 800 Miles In Six States

600 Soldiers, Airmen In 103 Planes Receive Lesson in A-Warfare

ATOP MT. CHARLESTON, Nev. (AP) — The fourth and largest atomic blast of the 1955 nuclear test series shook the Nevada desert today and gave U. S. soldiers and airmen another lesson in atomic warfare.

A brilliant flash seen 800 miles away and in six states heralded the much-postponed "big shot" of the winter-spring tests.

So bright was the flash that it temporarily blinded observers at this vantage post 8,900 feet above the Nevada desert and 45 air line miles from the Yucca Flat detonation site.

The Atomic Energy Commission triggered the blast atop a 500-foot tower, right on schedule at 7:20 a. m. CST to end almost daily postponements of this shot since last Feb. 15, when it had been scheduled to open the series.

"City-Buster" Device? Unofficial observers who have witnessed most or all of the previous 34 tests at the Nevada Proving Ground estimated the power of today's blast as equivalent of some 40,000 tons of TNT.

This compares with the 25,000-ton rating of the Nagasaki and Hiroshima atom bombs.

The previous three explosions during the past three weeks at Yucca Flat have been rated unofficially at less than 15 KTS (15,000 tons of TNT).

It was a baptism in nuclear warfare for some 600 soldiers on the ground and the airmen in the 103 war planes that participated in this atomic test.

But so powerful was the blast that observers believed it was more likely a test of a "city-buster" atomic device rather than of a tactical weapon for use on a battlefield.

The soldiers, from the Camp Desert Rock "housekeeping" unit that maintains and guards the Nevada Proving Ground, crouched in trenches nearly three miles away from ground zero beneath the tower.

This is three-quarters of a mile farther away than in the previous three tests of this year.

No Casualties Reported: The fireball rolled itself into the mushroom cloud and disappeared. The area was marked "safe" by radiological monitoring team an hour later, and the troops moved into the area in a simulated maneuver.

Overhead, fighters and bombers from the Air Force, Navy and Marines, took part in various simulated battle plans or went to work checking radiation in the mushroom cloud and charting its course.

The AEC announced that the test was successful and that there were no casualties. It reported that a strong shock wave was felt at the control point, some 10 miles from the detonation point.

Numerous small fires were visible from the control point, dotting the desert among the various items of test equipment that were exposed to the blast.

A pall of dust and smoke seven miles long and five miles wide completely blanketed Yucca Flat an hour after the explosion — another indication of the power of this "granddaddy" bomb.

Its flash spread a panorama of light over an 800-mile radius in the western states. It was seen by a Union Pacific train dispatcher in Shoshone, Idaho, 800 miles distant.

A Klamath Falls, Ore., policeman saw it and described the flash as much brighter than previous tests.

The Greater Egypt association on Friday night will launch its biggest effort to unite, co-ordinate and utilize all the forces available to promote and publicize southern Illinois.

The effort will take place at a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. that date in the Woody Hall dining room.

A four-course dinner will be served for $1.50. "Operations Marshall" will be revealed, progress reported and entertainment provided.

For dinner reservations, checks should be sent immediately to B. J. Murrie, Baptist Building, Carbondale, or reservations can be made by phoning Carbondale 1700.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Motley Array Of Witnesses Help Justice Harlan; Sen. Welker Clowns Senate Judiciary Hearings; Jingo Jordan Doesn't Like Harlan.

WASHINGTON. — A motley parade of witnesses has been marching behind closed doors to deliver some of the weirdest testimony ever heard on Capitol Hill regarding the fitness of a Supreme Court justice. The man they oppose is John Marshall Harlan. But some of their testimony was so bizarre, so unfair, that it boomeranged.

Here is a cross-section of the witness parade, some for, some against Harlan:

Merwin K. Hart, lobbyist for right-wing causes, called on the Senate Judiciary committee "to reject the nomination of Justice Harlan and not to confirm any nominee who is not known to be in favor of America first."

Radio commentator Fulton Lewis' protegee, George Racey Jordan, speaking for the American Coalition and the "Patriotic World" in general, declared stirringly: "We have no interest in politics or religion or anything except where it strikes the basic security of the country, and then we swing into action."

John Buchanan of Pittsburgh, disdaining a crack by North Dakota's Sen. "Wild Bill" Langer that he was a "professional witness," appealed "to John Marshall Butler (Maryland Republican senator) and the other members of this committee to vote for the confirmation of John Marshall Harlan in order that that great name may be continued in American history."

Harry Klinefelter of Baltimore, describing himself as "a Jeffersonian constitutional state-rights Republican," suggested that the country made a terrible mistake when it began printing money. He didn't say much one way or the other about Harlan, but he seemed to be against him.

15-CENT PROGRESS

Mrs. Ernest W. Howard, representing something called the "Wheel of Progress," complained that her cause wasn't properly publicized by the radios and newspapers, except for a pocket-sized magazine called Jet. "Everyone is buying it every week for 15 cents," she testified.

New Jersey's GOP Sen. Alex Smith, appearing as a witness, not only came out for Harlan but assured everyone that the late Sen. Bob Taft would also have favored Harlan.

Herman Methfessel, ex-district attorney on Staten Island, blamed his defeat on the way Harlan ran the New York State Crime Commission and concluded Harlan was "an unstable justice for the court of last resort."

HERMAN'S GRANDPA

Throughout the hodgepodge hearings, Idaho's Sen. Herman Welker alternately ripped into witnesses and reflected about his famous grandfather.

"I had a grandfather that was a great preacher down in North Carolina," he boasted, after New York bar president Edmund Lewis told how Harlan's grandfather had been on the Supreme Court. Welker added coyly that he had never been able to achieve his grandpa's fame.

Later, while Buchanan was appealing to John Marshall Butler to confirm John Marshall Harlan, Welker broke in again. "Well, I had a famous relative," he said.

"What was his name?" asked Buchanan politely.

"Reverend George W. Welker of Greensboro, North Carolina," happily responded Welker.

PURE THEATRE

From the point of view of pure theatrics, the best show was put on by Fulton Lewis' friend, George Racey Jordan, who started off his testimony against Harlan by announcing: "I had never heard of him in my life until he came up for nomination."

Jordan was suspicious of Harlan's friendly attitude toward the Atlantic Union, whose aim is to unite the democracies against communism. He was skeptical of the other democracies.

"We think they are broken-down socialist empires that are absolutely studded with communism," he explained in the closed-door hearing.

He also had a feeling that the Supreme Court wasn't standing up vigorously enough for the constitution.

"We are much concerned in the patriotic world," he said, "about this situation on the Supreme Court. We are horribly upset about it."

As for Harlan, Jordan conceded with tongue in cheek: "He may be a very fine person individually, but we listened to a lot of recommendations for Alger Hiss once upon a time."

Klinefelter, the Jeffersonian Republican, had trouble hearing. "I have been here three days in succession and my batteries ran down," he explained.

After pointing out that "it requires printed money to be socialist," he got off on another tangent and declared: "I have attended four national conventions, and every time they have nominated the wrong man. They did it in Chicago in 1952, don't forget that. I was there and saw it stolen from Taft."

"I hope and pray you will not go into politics," he deplored Welker.

"I can't hear you," replied Klinefelter, fingering his hearing aid.

TAFT'S BENIGN BLESSING

Taft's name came up again when Senator Smith, an ex-Princeton professor, noted: "One of the great things in the background of John Harlan's career is his education at the intellectual hub of the universe, to wit, Princeton university. If Bob Taft were here, I am afraid he would challenge me. He was an Eli... but I know Bob Taft, if he were here would have the same view of John's record and ability that I have."

Ex-D. A. Methfessel's testimony about Harlan's handling of the New York Crime Commission was disputed by Judge Joseph Proskauer, who had worked with Harlan on the commission.

At one point Senator Welker got testy and shouted at Proskauer: "Now I will do the answering, and you will do the answering."

The elderly attorney replied, just as testily: "I will do the answer-

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!
MOVIES - TV - RADIO

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Behind the Screen: Even Oscar's still blushing over the Academy Award nomination floptacular on television.

Whether the old boy shows up for the March 30 awards night, also to be televised, should depend on Hollywood's ability to revive itself and come back with the showmanship, humor and glamor expected of the entertainment capital of the world.

Even if it's necessary to put Marilyn Monroe and the Brothers Karamazov on camera to liven up things.

At least Oscar better read the script next time.

Marilyn, you must have noticed, wasn't nominated for anything, although she probably rates a special achievement award for still being able to wiggle while on a sit-down strike.

West is meeting east in the movies—but not on the lips!

A couple of new movies, "The House of Bamboo" and "The Gentle Wolfhound," feature Japanese leading ladies. It may or may not have anything to do with Nipponese objections, but there are no kissing scenes between Robert Stack and Shirley Yamaguchi in "The House" and no smooching between Aldo Ray and Mitsuko Kimura in "Wolfhound."

JOHN WAYNE'S ex-wife, Chata, is on the very sick list at her home just outside of Mexico City.

Pals insist J. David Schine was on a 24-hour pass from Anchorage, Alaska, when he dated Piper Laurie at the Coconut Grove.

That's a long way to travel for a date.

This is Hollywood, Mrs. Jones: If you're a person who has everything, a swank Beverly Hills shoppe has something your kitchen must have—a mink pot holder.

Not in the Script: Producer Albert J. Cohen's description of U-I's filmusical, "The Second Greatest Sex": It's a cross between "Oklahoma!" and "Lysistrata."

Censored: U. S. warblers are singing two lines in the lyrics of Ray Evans' and Jay Livingston's "Tonight My Love" this way: "Too long, too long, we've been close to surrender. It can't be wrong when our feelings are so tender."

But in England, the cholly old censors changed the lines to read: "Too long, too long, we have only been pretending. This is so wrong when our kisses could be blending."

Paramount is scheduling Bing Crosby's dance number in "Anything Goes" for the tail end of production. No strenuous capers for a while, say his medics. . . . Now the movies are getting around to Solomon in the Biblical cycle. Charles Feldman has plans to film "A Song of Solomon," screenplay by Aben Kandel.

THE WITNET: The yarn is making the rounds about the well-known producer who called his director over to his private projection room at home to check footage on a new picture. The producer and his 11-year-old son joined the director to view the film.

At one point the producer yelled: "Stop the picture," and protested to the director that he didn't understand the meaning of a certain scene.

"Why," protested the director, "I'm sure that even your 11-year-old son here understands it."

The lad immediately explained the scene to his father, whereupon the producer turned angrily to the director and shouted: "Since when are we making pictures for children?"

KEEFE BRASSERELLE signed the DeMarco Sisters and the Slate Brothers for his next Las Vegas show and says: "I'm just waiting for some critic to say this isn't family entertainment."

Close-Ups and Longshots: Moira Shearer, who wasn't exactly cheered by the British critics in her new film, "The Man Who Loved Redheads," is going right ahead with her straight acting career. She tours England, Scotland and Ireland with the London stage company of "I Am a Camera." . . . Mel Ferrer gets a voice double in his first musical, "Oh, Flendermaus," but he will do his own dancing.

Discover Oil on Land of Death Row Convict

JOLIET, Ill. (UP)—Harry Spegal, 28, had his full share of irony today. There's oil on his Oklahoma farm, but he's in Stateville Prison on death row awaiting execution.

However, Spegal had grounds for hoping the oil might save his life. His court-appointed attorney, C. E. Tate, said the money could be used to appeal Spegal's case all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Spegal, a former Champaign, Ill., taxi driver, was listed as a pauper when he was convicted and sentenced to death Oct. 14, 1953, on charges of strangling a six-year-old boy in a Champaign rooming house.

The case was appealed to the State Supreme Court, with Champaign County footing the bill because Spegal was supposed to be broke.

His only sizeable property was a 40-acre Oklahoma tract which he had inherited along with four other persons. The land was believed to be worthless.

Then, this week end, Tate disclosed that an oil strike had been made on the land by the Sinclair Refining Co. One well was flowing and the company plans to sink three more, Tate said.

If the state Supreme Court turns down Spegal's appeal, he said, the oil money could be used to take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Spegal is staking his bid for freedom on grounds that the conviction was based on his admission of "facts in the case," but that no body was ever produced.

In any case, the lawyer said, he will advise Spegal to put first things first.

"I will advise him to consider a will," Tate said.

South Korea Rejects Offer of Marine To Join Air Force

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—The Republic of Korea has politely turned down the offer of a United States Marine air reservist to give up his American citizenship if necessary to join the Korean air force and fight communism.

A ROK air force spokesman said today Robert C. Plummer of La Grange, Ill., sent a letter to the ROK air force chief of staff in January saying he would like to join the Korean air force.

The 35-year-old American said he is a non-commissioned officer in a Marine reserve unit in the U. S. Before that, he was an Army officer for four years, he said.

Ask $5,836,000 for Improvements at Anna State Hospital

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—The State Welfare Department has asked Gov. William G. Stratton for $5,836,000 for construction improvements for Anna State Hospital. The request was listed in the department 1955-57 budget submitted to the State Budgetary Commission here this week.

Biggest item in the requests for Anna was $2,200,000 for a new power plant. Next was one for $1,800,000 to construct units Nos. two and six as replacements for the Main building. Other items included:

Four hundred fifteen thousand dollars for completion of Unit Three—Main building replacement; $800,000 for additional diagnostic and receiving facilities—100 beds; $275,000 for a mechanical shop building; $175,000 for a turbine generator and switchgear — 1,000 KW; $96,000 for a 4-family staff quarters including utilities; and $75,000 for a 12-car garage.

The welfare request was presented to the Budgetary commission by Department Director Dr. Otto L. Bettag, Chicago. He told the commission that "the present acute hospital building is not adequate to serve the needs of the Anna hospital as a diagnostic and receive facility as well as an acute hospital."

"By the construction of this additional building," Bettag said, "it will permit the Anna state hospital to render adequate diagnostic and receiving services and permit us to utilize the Acute Hospital Building for acutely ill patients. A new staff quarters will permit us to compete for additional professions personnel."

William Bell Dies at His Home

Five Airmen Hurt In B-36 Crash

LORING AIR FORCE BASE, Me. — A hoosier crewman was among five on a B-36 Air Force bomber who were injured Sunday night when the giant 10-engine plane crashed and burned while attempting a landing at the base.

The five were believed suffering from burns and were hospitalized at the base. Six other crew members were uninjured.

Among the injured was Airman 2nd Class John F. Werbe, 22, gunner, Franklin, Ind., son of the manager of several stores in the Goodman-Jester, Inc., department store chain.

Base officials said the plane hit a snowbank while trying to land during a storm. Col. Jackson Lewis, base commander, said "the very thing that caused the accident apparently saved their lives." He said the snowdrifts cushioned the shock of the crash and prevented the resultant fire from spreading.

Five Killed When Blast Rocks Store

CHICAGO — Five were killed Sunday night when an explosion rocked a suburban department store.

Four of the dead men were employees of a firm which was installing a new gas oven in the bakery section of the Wieboldt department store in River Forest, Ill.

The blast was believed to have occurred when illuminating gas was turned on in the oven. The bakery shop's walls, floors and ceiling were shattered, and damage was estimated at $100,000.

The only survivor of the crew was Carl Carlson, 54, who was inside the oven when the blast occurred.

Mrs. Barter is progressing well, considering her age, her daughter reports. She can walk a little, although she is not active. She reports especially enjoying reading The Daily Register's reports of events in her home county.

Volcano Subsides In Hawaii After Week Long Activity

PAHOA, Hawaii — An eruption of lava from the angry Puukii fountain subsided today, but a volcano expert warned jittery residents of Hawaii Island, "We're not out of the woods yet."

The warning came from volcanologist Gordon MacDonald, who has gone with practically no sleep since the Kilauea volcano field began spewing molten lava and endangering villages in the Puna district a week ago.

"I think the pressure is off," he said, "but it may break out again." MacDonald said it was a hopeful sign that there were no more earthquakes Sunday.

At nightfall Sunday, the Puukii fountain, source of the main stream of lava flowing toward the sea, had two weak lava fountains on both sides, but the main cone itself was quiet.

The fountain is located in the Kilauea chain of craters, a series of huge, gaping holes in a desolate area running 30 miles from the volcano itself to the sea.

The week-long volcano activity forced the evacuation of all 335 residents of Kapoho village five days ago. Three hundred evacuees from Kalapana and Opihikao villages left their homes during the weekend.

AFL, CIO Leaders Say Eisenhower to Consider $1.25 Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON — AFL and CIO leaders said today that President Eisenhower should consider their request for a federal $1.25 minimum wage.

A joint AFL-CIO delegation called on Mr. Eisenhower to enlist his aid in their minimum wage drive. Spokesman Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel of the CIO, said later the President said he would give "all the consideration he can" to their case. But he made no promises.

The President has recommended a hike from the present 75 cents an hour minimum to 90 cents. The labor leaders said he told them his administration would be guided by the facts.

Nationalists Fire On British Ship

HONG KONG — Nationalist Chinese warships fired on two Hong Kong registered freighters today in the Formosa Strait, the British Navy announced.

The two ships, the British-owned SS Westway, and the Taiwanese Hong, both radioed they suffered no damage or casualties.

The attacks were the first on British shipping in the Formosa area since Jan. 19 when the freighter Edendale was sunk in Swatow Harbor by Nationalist planes.

Ike Discusses Cattle, Hogs to Six 4-H Champs

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today talked Aberdeen Angus cattle and Berkshire hogs with six national 4-H Club winners. The youngsters went to the White House to present the 4-H "report to the nation" as part of national 4-H Club Week.

Elden Holsapple, 18, Mitchell, Ind., said the President "talked a lot about his farm" at Gettysburg, Pa.

"I think he'll go back to it—I thought about asking when, but didn't," Elden told reporters after the visit.

Elden said he asked the President if he had any Berkshire hogs at his farm because "that's what I raise." The President said he did not although he has one Landrace sow and another kind Elden couldn't remember.

Elden said the President also plans to raise "just enough poultry for our own use." He said the President was really interested in raising Aberdeen Angus cattle.

The report presented to President Eisenhower summarizes accomplishments of more than two million 4-H Club members throughout the country and contained photographs of Elden's hog and other projects.

But You Must Admit That It Did Run

TOLEDO, O. — Police were not at all pleased when they found a high school pupil giving his home-made car a test run.

In the first place, two patrolmen almost ran into the car because it didn't have any lights. Upon investigation they learned the vehicle did not have brakes, license plates, or normal steering equipment. It had a washing machine motor which put it into the motor vehicle classification.

Police impounded the car and ordered the 15-year-old driver into juvenile court.

Iowa Gains Big Ten Title, NCAA Berth as Minnesota Loses to Wisconsin, 78-72

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's Big Ten championship basketball team was crowned today with a victory over Minnesota in the first round of the national collegiate tournament today with an unexpected opportunity to test its tactics in an "experimental" match against a conference foe.

The Hawkeyes gained the crown, which automatically moves them into the tourney, a game ahead of schedule when Wisconsin upset Minnesota Saturday, 78-72, to eliminate the last challenger for a title tie.

Iowa can try its tournament style tonight, in its last regularly scheduled game of the season, at Michigan in the finale for the entire Big Ten campaign.

In the past, Big Ten champions have tried for a mid-week game between the end of the conference season and the beginning of the tournament, but opposition normally wasn't of top caliber. Hence the Hawks get a break in meeting a Big Ten foe with nothing to lose by defeat.

Iowa will open its tournament play Friday in the Evanston regionals of the event, meeting the winner of the Penn St. - Memphis State game in the first round. Southeastern Conference champion Kentucky will play on the same card against the winner of the Marquette-Miami of Ohio game.

Both first round games will be played on the Kentucky floor Tuesday, as Iowa and Kentucky were seeded directly into the Evanston pairings.

Schlundt Wins Scoring Title

Even if Coach Buckley O'Connor experiments with his entire squad, the Hawkeyes were expected to drop Michigan with ease tonight as Iowa whipped the Wolverines by 12 points only a week ago.

Wisconsin sealed its win over Minnesota with a 14-point spurge to open the second half which opened up a nine-point lead. Minnesota never could overcome. Dick Miller pounced in 27 points for the Badgers.

The defeat dropped Minnesota into a second place tie with Illinois, which closed the season with an 81-69 win over Northwestern, the Wildcats' first defeat in seven home conference games. Each team had a 10-4 record.

In the other games Michigan State bounced Michigan, 83-68, while Indiana drubbed Ohio State, 84-66, as Don Schlundt tied his own single game scoring record with 47 points.

Schlundt's performance gained him the league scoring championship for the third straight year as he finished with 369 markers and a 26.3 point per game average. Dick Garmaker of Minnesota finished second with a 348 and a 24.9 mark while Frank Ehmann of Northwestern was third with 343 and 24.5.

WYNN SIGNS $38,000-PLUS-BONUS CONTRACT

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Pitcher Early Wynn agreed to a compromise $38,000-plus-bonus contract today leaving American league batting champion Bobby Avila and outfielder Dave Philley as the Cleveland Indians' sole remaining hold-outs.

Wynn signed Sunday after a five-minute conference with General Manager Hank Greenberg. Wynn revealed the pact called for $38,000 plus a $2,000 bonus if the Indians' home attendance passes a million.

Wynn posted a 23-11 record and 2.72 earned run average in 1954.

HOAK FIGHTS FOR THIRD BASE POST

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fiery Don Hoak served notice on Jackie Robinson today that he's out to dislodge the veteran Negro star as the Brooklyn Dodgers' regular third baseman.

Hoak, who hit only 245 in 88 games for Brooklyn last season, starred with a triple and a single as the Brooklyn farmhands beat the rookies in Sunday's intra-squad game, 4-3.

VERNON SIGNS SENATORS' CONTRACT

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Manager Charley Driessen indicated today that he would alternate Mickey Vernon and Roy Sievers at first base this year for the Washington Senators.

Vernon completed the Senators' roster Sunday when he signed for an estimated $26,600—about $1,000 less than last year.

HOWARD OUT OF FIRST BASE RACE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Elston Howard's chances of becoming the first Negro to play regularly for the New York Yankees hinged today on his chances of beating Hank Bauer, Irv Noren or Mickey Mantle out of a job.

Manager Casey Stengel moved Howard, a 330 hitter at Toronto in the International league last season, from the first base sweepstakes Sunday. Howard was a catcher for Toronto.

DROPO HITS HOME RUN, TWO SINGLES

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Walt Dropo's home run and two singles drove in three runs Sunday as the Gutteridge beat the Myatts, 9-7, in the Chicago White Sox' intra-camp game.

Canada's herds of caribou are being cut down by wolves, hunters, disease and scarcity of forage faster than nature can replace the losses, says the National Geographic Society. To increase the stock, the Canadian government has imported reindeer from Siberia by way of Alaska and brought herds-men from Lapland to teach nomadic Eskimos the art of the deer's domestic care.

Illinois Wins Gymnastics Title

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Big Ten gymnastics crown was won with accustomed ease by Illinois today after the Illini ran away with the conference tournament at the University of Minnesota Saturday.

The Illini won the championship for the sixth straight year with the brilliant performance of Jeff Austin, Tom Gardner, Tony Hlinka and Dick Jirus counting heavily.

Illinois rolled up 139 points to win in a walk over Michigan State, the closest team with 91.5 points.

Iowa was third with 89 points, Minnesota fourth with 56.5 and Wisconsin had 38, Ohio State 25, Michigan 8, Indiana 1, and Northwestern 0.

Michigan Wins Big 10 Indoor Track Crown

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan held the Big Ten indoor track crown today but Coach Don Canham was not entirely satisfied.

Canham's Wolverines won the conference indoor track and field championships Saturday with the second highest point total in the meet's history.

"I wish we could have rolled up a few more points to beat the record of our 1944 team," Canham said. "But I guess we should be satisfied that we won the meet."

The well-trained Wolverine squad rolled up 67½ points, topped only by the 75½ points scored by another Michigan team in 1944.

Although the Wolverines finished 21 points ahead of the field, host Michigan State gained some consolation from individual performances which helped it to second place with 46½ points.

The Spartans' Ed Brabham was the individual star of the meet as he won the 60-yard dash and the broad jump and placed second in the 300-yard run to score 14 points.

In addition, Michigan State's Kevan Gosper broke the only record to fall during the meet.

Gosper was clocked at 1:11.3 in winning the 600, lowering the old record by one-tenth of a second. He produced another victory in the 440.

Illinois took fourth place behind Indiana. The defending champion Illini racked up 24 points to 38½ for the Hoosiers.

Other team scores were Wisconsin 21, Ohio State 15, Iowa 11½, Northwestern 6, Minnesota 1 and Purdue 0.

'JUST WATCH ME'—Charles J. Buckley, Jr., 8, has the right form, but he's still on the wrong side of the fence at Yankees' St. Petersburg, N.Y., training camp. But the youngster hopes Johnny Neuen, New York coach, sees enough promise in him to wait a couple of years—and get up a bonus. (NEA)

Looking At Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

With the Norris City regional now an event of the past, we can pick up a few loose ends that deserve comment. First and foremost, we've compiled the individual scoring and find that Carrier Mills' Oliver Rollins finished with the highest average of those who participated in more than one game. Jack Nolen, Shawneetown, collected the most points, but in three games, which trimmed his average.

Here's the way the top 12 individual scorers line up:

Player	Sch	gp	fg	ft	tp	av
Rollins, CM	2	18	17	53	26.5
Nolen, S-town	3	24	18	66	22
Spottsville, S-town	3	13	21	37	15.7
Lissak, Eldo	3	16	12	44	14.7
Price, Hbg	2	9	11	29	14.5
Anglin, Hbg	2	13	2	28	14
Lovellette, Eldo	3	15	9	39	13
Newsom, S-town	3	13	6	32	10.7
Flitts, CM	2	8	5	21	10.5
Clark, Eldo	3	10	11	31	10.3
Whittier, Eldo	3	12	6	30	10
Harrison, Hbg	2	8	4	20	10

Rollins also turned in the best single game performance with his 31-point effort against Shawneetown. He got 22 against Norris City.

Other outstanding single game shows were recorded by Wheeler of Mills Prairie, who collected 27 against Eldorado; Nolen's 25 against Ridgway; and Spottsville's 25 against Eldorado.

There were many fine players in the tournament, and we thought the conduct of both players and fans far above average. Much comment has already been made on the fine way the tournament was conducted. The Register sports staff was impressed to the end, and felt the manner in which the trophy presentation was made with the floor roped off very commendable. The vocalists, organist, Norris City band and half-time entertainers are also to be congratulated on their fine additions to the affair.

It is interesting to note that of the three teams meeting Shawneetown, Ridgway trailed the new champs but three points going into the fourth yet lost by 26. Carrier Mills was down 17 and Eldorado 10 at the same point, the Wildcats losing by eight, the Eagles by 12. Shawneetown shot 133 times from the field during the tournament and made 61 for an average of 453 for the three games. Their opponents made 50 of 138 tries for a 332. Ridgway, which led the Indians, 20-22 at halftime, shot 643 the first half.

Well, we have the winner of our "You Pick 'em" contest. He's George D. Starkey, of Galatia, and if our memory is correct, this was the first time George has joined our little throng. Congratulations, George. Starkey turned in a perfect blank as did W. P. Webb and John Bishop, both of Raleigh. We gave Starkey top spot because he came within seven points of picking the score of the final game.

(Incidentally, George Starkey is possibly better known as "Steve" to many of you fans. A member of the Galatia high school board and scorekeeper for the Bears on home game occasions, Starkey had good reason to believe Shawneetown would come through the regional. Starkey, who holds down first cage at the Harrisburg First National Bank, says he took a lot of good-natured ribbing from friends by forecasting the Shawneetown triumph.)

Actually, James Hal Burch, Route 1, Carrier Mills, came closer to the score than anyone. He missed by just three points, but alas Harrisburg failed to come through over Eldorado, costing Burch his only miss. Eight others were tripped up just once. They were: Tim O'Brien, Golconda, Dick Lehr, Bridgeport, W. A. Hamby, Harrisburg, Hobart Ellis and Bob Rister, Shawneetown, Earl Webb, Raleigh, Wilfred Roe, Ridgway, and one unidentified blank.

We won't have a blank for you this week but if things work out, we may try to give you one on the sweet sixteen the following week to wind up in style.

List Pairings For NCAA; St. Louis in NIT

By United Press

Seven newly-crowned conference champions all but completed the huge 24-team field for the NCAA Basketball Tournament which starts Tuesday, while St. Louis became the 12th and last team to enter the National Invitation Tournament.

Duke, West Virginia, Kentucky, Iowa, Oregon State, and West Texas State all clinched conference championships and NCAA berths by winning their final games Saturday night. And Tulsa, which finished in a tie tie with St. Louis, was picked Sunday to represent the Missouri Valley Conference. St. Louis received the NIT bid, which was being saved for one or the other.

NCAA Pairings Listed

So the NCAA Tournament will open Tuesday night with these pairings:

At New York (tripleheader): Williams - Canisius, Duke - Villanova, and La Salle - West Virginia. (Winners go to Philadelphia regionals, March 11).

At Lexington, Ky. (doubleheader): Miami, Ohio - Marquette and Penn St. - Memphis St. (Winners go to Evanston, Ill., regionals, March 11).

At Oklahoma City (single game): Bradley - Oklahoma City. (Winner goes to Manhattan, Kans., regionals, March 11).

At San Francisco (doubleheader): Idaho St. - Seattle and San Francisco - West Texas St. (Winners go to Corvallis, Ore., regionals, March 11).

The surviving team in each of the four regionals will go to Kansas City, March 18 and 19, for the semifinals and final.

Eight conference champions have drawn automatic byes for Tuesday night's opening round and go directly to the regional tournaments. Seven of these are Kentucky, Iowa, Southern Methodist, Colorado, Tulsa, Oregon State, and Utah.

Ivy Not Decided

The eighth bye goes to the Ivy League champion - the only one not yet determined. Columbia and Pennsylvania, now tied for the title, meet tonight in a special playoff at Princeton, N. J., immediately after the regularly-scheduled Princeton-Brown game. However, if Princeton wins the opener, it will gain a share in the tie and then will meet the Columbia-Pennsylvania winner on Wednesday.

St. Louis steps into a berth opposite Connecticut in the opening round of the NIT at New York's Madison Square Garden this Saturday night. Other first round games Saturday are Manhattan-Louisville and Niagara - Lafayette in the day and Seton Hall - St. Francis, Pa., at night. Four seeded entries, drawing first round byes, are Duquesne, Dayton, Holy Cross, and Cincinnati.

The nation's longest winning streak, 22 games, was smashed Saturday night when Notre Dame, playing five men almost all the way, beat tourney-bound Marquette, 85-64, at Milwaukee, as Jack Stephens tallied 35 points.

60 Teams Battle in Sectionals This Week for Place in Sweet 16 Tourney; Shawneetown Only Unbeaten 5 Left

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Sixty Illinois high school cage teams are left to bid for 15 downstate lights on the big map of Illinois at the state finals in Champaign March 16-19.

The lights will flash on the map in Huff gym for the winners of the sectional tournaments Wednesday through Friday.

The teams two games away from the Sweet 16 include seven of those that made it last year. Nine ranked among the top 15 in the state by the United Press Board of Coaches. And four "Little Davids" who battled their way up through district tournaments.

All sixty became regional champions Friday night. Some that didn't survive regional tests were Cumberland, Collinsville, East St. Louis, Cicero Morton, Edwardsville and Harrison—all ranked among the 15 best at the end of the regular season.

Shawneetown Only Unbeaten

Shawneetown is the only unbeaten team left in the fray. The Indians have won 29. Their opening sectional at Marion will be the Herrin Tigers, who cooled off high-scoring Carbondale Attacks Friday. The other two teams at Marion are Brookport and Anna-Jonesboro, the club that ended Pinckneyville's home court winning record.

Still fighting in defense of its 1954 state championship is Mount Vernon. But in their opening sectional game at Salem the Rams face the team many pick to succeed the mighty Centralia, led by Bobby Joe Mason, probably the greatest individual star for the Orphans since Dwight Eddleman.

In the other bracket at Salem, the Cinderella-minded West Frankfort club challenges the perennially potent Panthers of Pinckneyville, who have a 29-2 record identical with Centralia's season mark. Warriors Carry Reputation

The Warriors of Rockford West, season-long choice as the state's best club, meet Rochelle as the first hurdle at Rockford. Neighboring Rockford East, a Sweet 16 entry in 1954, ties into Sycamore in the other game.

The "upstarts"—small school survivors of 44 district tournaments—are Potomac, Tonic, Jacksonville Rount and Augusta. Potomac, Watska regional winner sporting a 28-5 record, has a good chance in a "weak" sectional Danville. Monticello, Rantoul and Georgetown are the other entries.

A big surprise so far is Jacksonville Rount, which upset Jacksonville to take its regional and now goes against Winchester in the Jacksonville sectional. It's Astoria against favored Quincy in the other contest.

Augusta, a district team that has reached the sectional round for two years, plays at Galesburg. Augusta opens against Joy while Galesburg meets Bushnell-Prairie City.

Tonica Faces Streator

Least bright prospect for the "Mighty Mites" is that of Tonic, a 28-3 team that must meet Streator or in the Ottawa opener. The winner of this one vies with the survivor of the Princeton-Braidwood match. Princeton boasts one of the highest scoring centers in Illinois prep annals, big Joe Ruklick, who has swished some 800 points this season.

Moline, sharing favorite honors with Rockford West and Centralia, plays at Rock Island. Moline starts against fellow Northwest conference entry Kewanee. The Fulton Steamers venture into deep waters against Sterling in the second contest.

The Big 12 conference co-champs, Decatur and Pekin, will carry that loop's colors into sectional action in their own backyards. Pekin entertains Canton, Normal Community and Peoria Spalding. Decatur can look ahead to Brownstown, with Clinton tackling Shelbyville here.

Adult Classes For Farmers Well Attended

H. C. Bishop, vocational agriculture instructor at the Eldorado Township high school, has announced that the evening classes for farmers at the ETHS have been well attended and plans are going forward to carry on with the program in the 1955-56 school year.

This year marked the third consecutive year for the adult evening classes for farmers in the ETHS agriculture department. Each year the classes have been well attended, in fact, Mr. Bishop stated, it has become necessary for the Agriculture Advisory Council to regulate the enrollment for the classes due to the great numbers desiring to attend. "This indicates a real interest on the part of the farmers in this area," Mr. Bishop declared.

Four different classes were offered this year in the following fields of agriculture: Soil Management, taught by H. S. Bishop; Farm Machinery Repair, Maintenance and Adjustments, taught by Nelson Fowler, a farmer; Elementary Welding, taught by Mr. Bishop, and Advanced Welding, taught by Finnis Williams, a welder.

All courses were free to the farmers, except the welding courses with a $10 charge assessed per member to help cover the expense of consumable supplies needed in the welding courses.

The expense for the courses are made available through the regulations of the National Smith-Hughes Act, therefore the local funds needed are relatively small. The actual cost per student class hour was 18 cents, Bishop stated.

Suggested courses for the 1955-56 year are Farm Law, Electrical Wiring, Farm Carpentry, Livestock Production, Analyzing Soil and Welding.

Gov't Turn-About Witness Indicted By Federal Jury

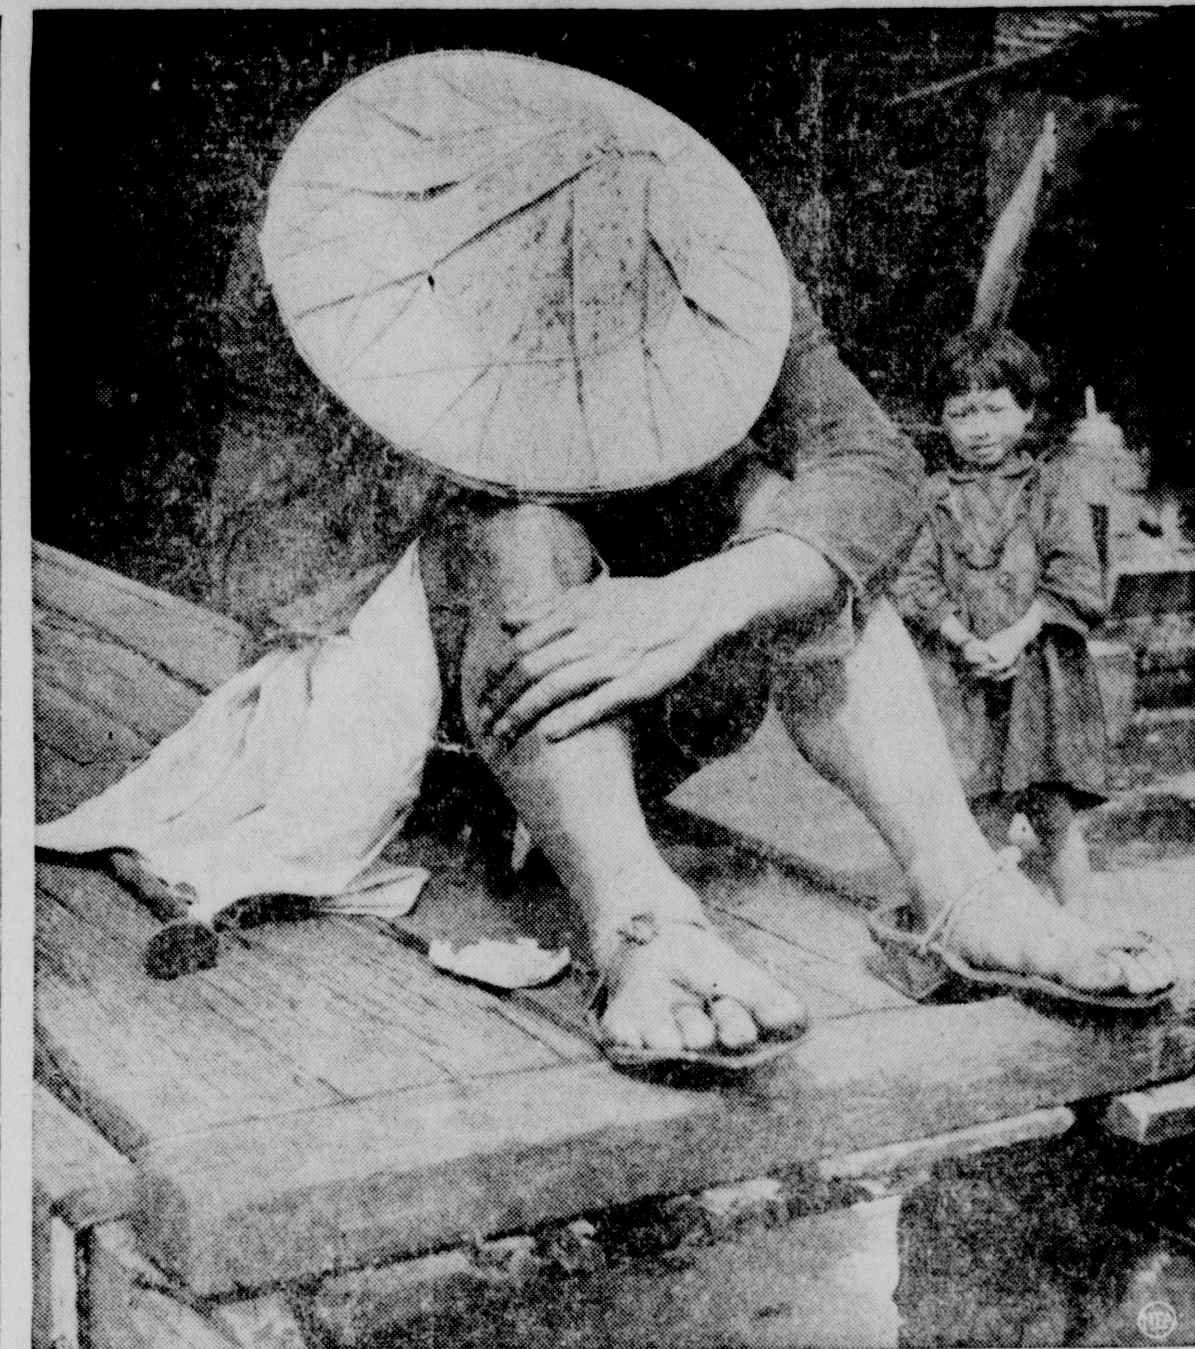

WASHINGTON (U)—Mrs. Marie Natvig, a government turnabout witness, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on nine counts of lying in the Edward O. Lamb case.

The maximum penalty for conviction on each count of perjury is five years and/or a $2,000 fine.

Mrs. Natvig, 51, an unemployed public relations counselor from Miami Beach, Fla., was labeled a "completely incredible witness" by the presiding officer in the Federal Communications Commission hearing into the Lamb case.

At first she had testified that Lamb, a publisher-broadcaster, had associated with Communists and donated money to Communist causes. Later, she reversed that testimony and claimed she had been "brainwashed" by FCC attorneys.

Limping Goose

by Frank Gruber. Copyright 1954 by Frank Gruber. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Johnny Fletcher and Sam Cragg, trying to restore their vanished finances by bill collecting, get involved in a murder. The victim, Jess Carmichael III, was slain in the apartment of Alice Cummings, who gave Johnny a "goose bank" filled with old pennies, dimes and quarters in payment on a long due bill. When Johnny takes the money to a coin dealer, he finds they are not very valuable.

They entered a store. Although it was early evening the place was well patronized. They approached one of the checkers.

"The manager," John said easily.

The checker pressed a buzzer and a clerk called out over the store. After a moment a man wearing a tan jacket approached the checker.

The later indicated Johnny. "He wants to see you."

"No-no," said Johnny to the manager. "I want to see Mr. Carmichael."

The manager looked at Johnny puzzled. "Who?"

"Jess Carmichael. The boss."

The store manager's eyes suddenly narrowed. "What's the idea?"

"I want to talk to Old Jess. This is his store, isn't it?"

"Yes," said the grocery manager. "It's his store, all right. Store No. 1144."

Sam tugged at Johnny's sleeve. "Hey, does he mean Carmichael's got 1144 stores?"

"Twenty-one hundred and fifty-nine," said the store manager, "unless he's opened a couple of dozen today that I don't know about."

Johnny nodded. "Old Jess must be rolling in it. Well, that's fine, just fine. Now if you'll tell him that I'd like to see him."

"You must be crazy!" the store manager finally exploded. "You expect him to be here — selling groceries, maybe?"

"Why not?"

The man tried hard to compose himself. "Look, mister, a joke's a joke, but I'm a busy man. Will you go and bother somebody else?"

"Is it too much bother for Mr. Carmichael to talk to a customer?" demanded Johnny. "I've spent a lot of money in Carmichael stores and I think the least Carmichael can do—"

"Go away!" cried the store manager. "I'm busy. So's Mr. Carmichael."

"So am I," snapped Johnny. "Do I see the boss, or don't I?"

"I've never seen him," grunted the groceryman. "I wouldn't know him if I did. He's never been in this store and he'll probably never come in."

"That's a funny way to run a business," growled Johnny. "Man owns so many stores he can't even get around to look at them. All right, if he isn't here, where can I find him?"

"How should I know?"

"That sounds silly," Johnny proceeded. "Suppose something happens? Who do you call?"

"The district manager."

"Does he know Carmichael?"

"How do I know?"

"Somebody's got to know. Somebody's got to be able to get to Carmichael."

"Sure, sure. There's somebody 'way, way up, who probably even knows where he lives—"

"He lives in Manhasset," suddenly said the checker, beside the store manager. "I read it in a magazine once."

"Thanks," Johnny said to the checker. "You're a bright alert worker. Some day you'll be manager of this store and he'll be holding down your job."

Outside Sam said, "Manhasset?"

"Yep. Mmm, that's out on Long Island. Probably cost us more than a buck apiece round trip on the Long Island Railroad. We've only got $1.45, thanks to that appetite of yours."

"We got the pennies and dimes—"

"I'm not going to spend those. And we can't spend the rent money."

"Walking, Johnny?"

"Are you kidding? I don't like to walk any more than you do. I was thinking of riding out there. In a nice, shiny limousine."

They continued on to the Barizon-Waldorf Hotel. In the vast lobby, Johnny found the bell captain's desk.

"I say, old man," Johnny said. "I'd like to rent a car for the evening."

"Yes, sir," said the bell captain. "With or without a driver?"

"Oh, with a driver, I suppose. This city traffic, you know."

"Yes, sir. I know. Let's see, will you want it by the mile or by the hour?"

"I think I'd better take it by the hour, then. I want to take a drive out to Long Island and visit awhile."

"What is the number of your room, sir?"

"Eighty-two - one," replied Johnny truthfully, although he neglected to say that this was the number of his room at the Forty-Fifth Street Hotel.

A guard stepped out of a small stone house and moved up to the limousine.

"I'm calling on Mr. Carmichael," Johnny said easily.

"Is he expecting you, sir?" Johnny shrugged. "More or less, I imagine."

"Could I have your name, sir?"

"Fletcher, Johnny Fletcher."

The guard stepped back into his little house and picked up the phone. A moment later he returned. "Wilkins, the butler, says he doesn't have your name. What is it about?"

"Does it have to be about anything?" Johnny asked tartly. "Tell this Wilkins or whatever his name is, that I'm a customer of Mr. Carmichael's. That's all, don't add another word."
